

PLASFI, S.A., is part of the BIOMAT Project consortium that brings together universities, research centres, SMEs, large industries and associations that will develop multidisciplinary technologies and services to produce biobased PUR foams and accelerate a sustainable European bioeconomy.

A team composed of 26 international partners from Spain, Italy, Germany, Portugal, France, United Kingdom, Latvia and Israel, all significant active players in Building, Construction, Automotive, Furniture and Bedding research market.

It is time to get to know the BIOMAT Project consortium!

Centre for Nanotechnology and Smart Materials	Asociación Española de Normalización
Institut fuer Verbundwerkstoffe GmbH	GlobalWise Ltd.
Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya	Kessler ProData GmbH
National Research Council of Italy	European Sky
Hochschule Kaiserslautern	Fiat Chrysler Automotive Center of Research Fiat
Fraunhofer Gesellschaft zur Foerderung der Angewandten Forschung EV	Acciona Infrastructures Inc.
NetComposites Ltd. (UK)	Ritols
INDATECH SAS	AEP Polymers Srl
Universita' Degli Studi di Milano-Bicocca	OSM DAN Ltd
Castilla la Mancha University	Melodea Ltd.
Fundacion Instituto Tecnológico de Galicia	PLASFI, S.A.
Bar Ilan University	CITEVE Certificação
Project Sas di Massimo Perucca	LKCOM

The 26 international partners, from 8 countries, gathered on February 2nd and 3rd to present main objectives and innovative solutions to be developed under the BIOMAT scope over the next 4 years.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 under the grant agreement No. 953270 (BIOMAT).